

Artificial sweeteners linked with a 13% higher risk of cancer

- Nearly half of United States adults consume artificial sweeteners.
- Human-population studies have found artificial sweeteners to be safe, but results from in vitro studies and studies on animals pose some concerns.
- A large new study of artificial-sweetener consumers finds that the products are associated with an increased risk of cancer.

➔ Read Robby Berman in Medical News Today

April 2, 2022